Room tally card

Your AI, as files you own. Learn it in an hour. Run it on any computer. Hand it to anyone. One card per room. Numbers only, never names.

Date and place
Your host number (any number you pick, the same every time)
How many started the hour
How many finished all six steps within 60 minutes
Memory check: at the start everyone told their Brainstem one fact; at the end they closed it, opened it again and asked. How many got the fact back?
How many of those had never written code
How many came because someone told them, or they looked up how to start with AI
Who will host the next room (how many said yes)
The hardest step today (one or two words)
A week later: how many say they still use it (ask the room once)

Text the numbers to the person who asked you to host. That is all we count. Run the room with the room guide.
